OCCUPY LA MEDIA NEWS

"WE ARE OCCUPY LA TOO"

Occupy Los Angeles News has seen a steady number of families participating in the Occupy LA movement. And some of these families include very young activists working right along side adults trying to better our nation. This article briefly explores them.

Let's take for instance the young child to the right of this print who was seen this past Sunday on the North side of City Hall with his message of love. He believes and proclaims, "The World Needs Love and Sharing." In its simplest form "love and sharing" has been a persistent element of discussions when OLAN has set down to chat with occupiers.

Occupy Los Angeles News asked another woman Angela Lussier

why she was out here with her grand daughter. They were protesting the adoption procedures at Department of Family and Children Services while Angela's case is on appeal.

Then there was young father Emilio Casilas who was so proud to take a picture of his son in front of an Occupy LA banner. He said to baby Diego smiling below in a stroller "we are part of the 99% too."

Their work is not glamorous but a necessity. NATIONAL is the company responsible for the portable toilets and they know all these facts well.

Occupy Los Angeles News stands on line at the portable toilets like all occupiers. And the one constant opinion amongst folks is "we appreciate" the services of National.
